Sidewalk RED

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Sidewalk RED has been instrumental in changing the landscape and culture of the HRM with their thoughtful design and redevelopments of many of the building we see today.

Sidewalk's unconventional approach to development includes valuing sustainability and history. They are pioneers in office tower conversion, including a downtown Dartmouth office tower that will gain a new lease on life as a mixed use office & residential building. Sidewalk helped save one of Canada's top ten most at risk historical buildings from the wrecking ball. They have been instrumental in the revitalization of downtown Dartmouth, carefully forging a vibrant community bursting with culture, an up-and-coming craft beverage scene, funky boutiques, and urban art and are now looking to bring their creative flair to downtown Halifax.

RETAIL & RESTAURANT LEASING OPPORTUNITY

THE OPPORTUNITY

Multiple commercial leasing opportunities in the former Centennial Building that is currently under renovation and will be rebranded as the The Agency Art Lofts.

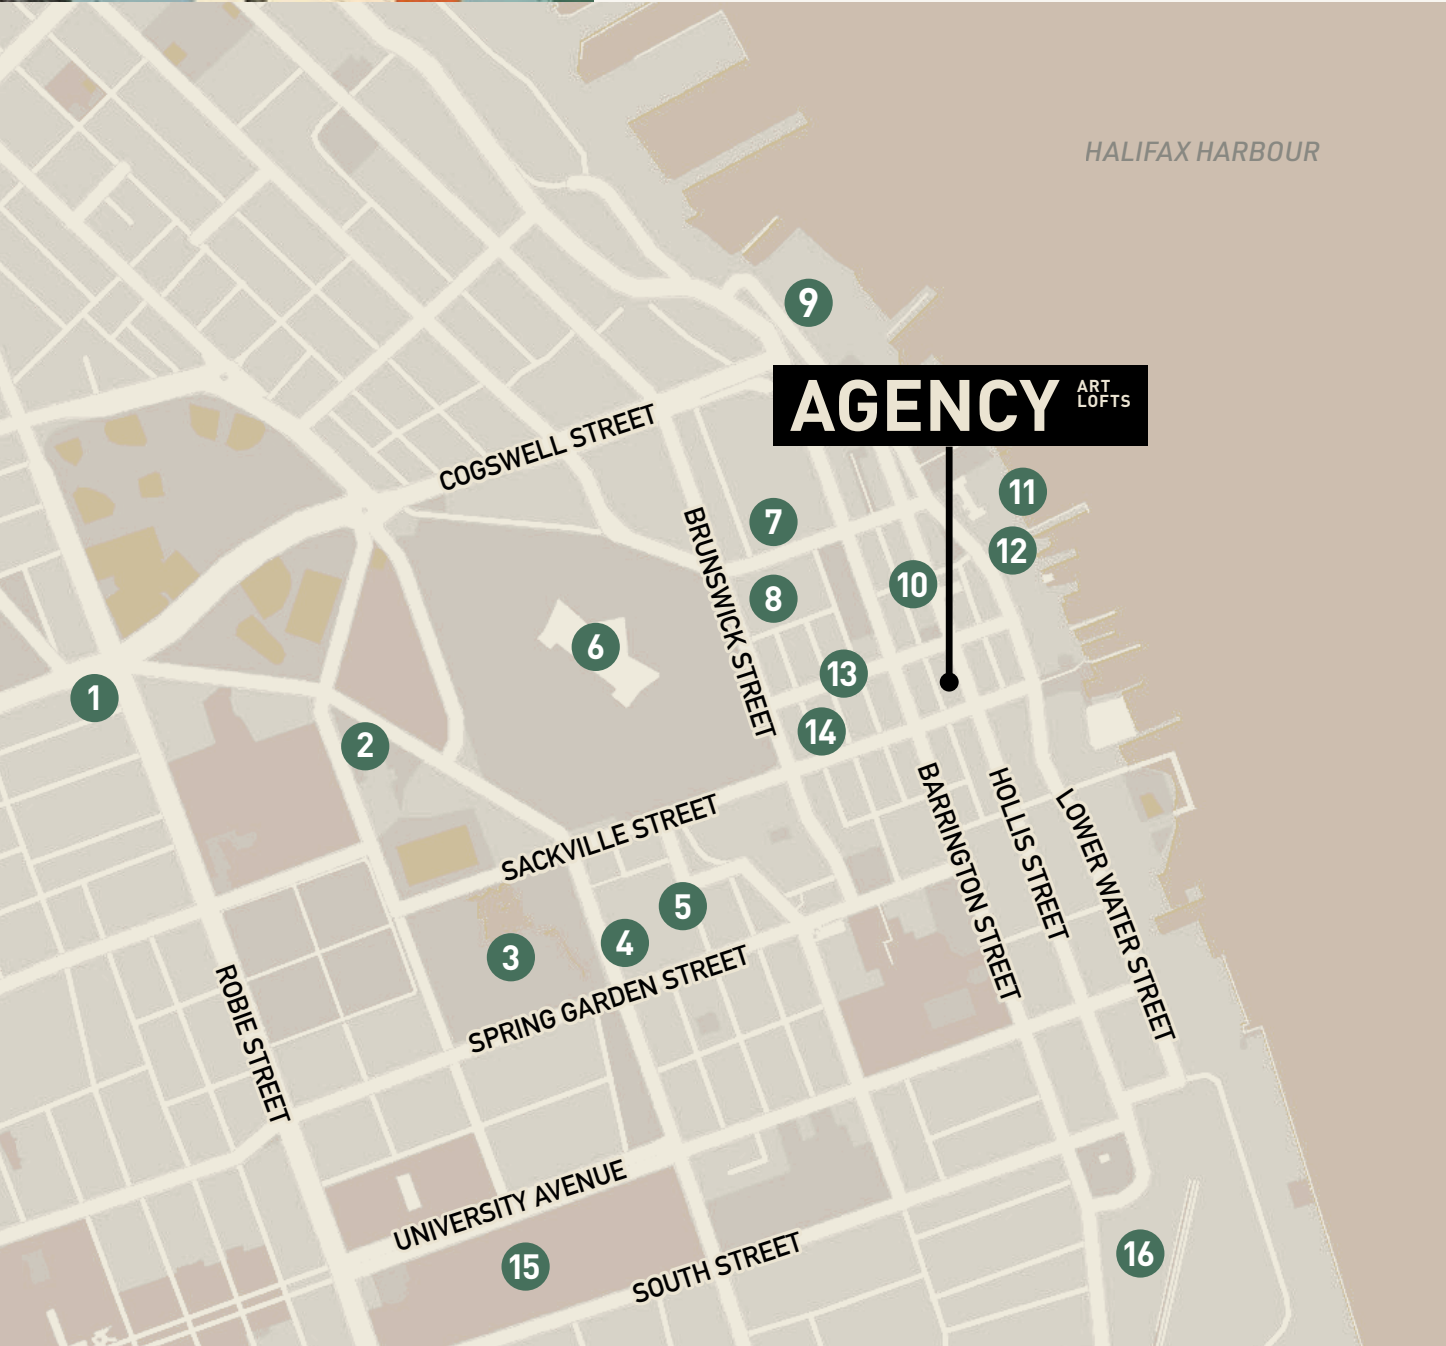

Built in the 1970s, the mid-century-designed Centennial Building was one of Halifax’s first high-rise buildings, standing 14 storeys tall and centrally located downtown. But when acquired by Sidewalk, this office tower was nearly 40 percent vacant—having lost tenants to newly built A-class properties—and in desperate need of a new vision. So we looked beyond its tired facade to uncover the building’s fundamental features: concrete columns and 11.5 ft – 16.5 ft ceilings. It’s a case study of the value of retention and adaptation over demolition, and preserving a building’s embodied energy.
