OUR ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITMENT

OUR COMMITMENT TO NET-ZERO CARBON AND CLIMATE RISK MANAGEMENT

The business case to move toward net zero is strong—both in terms of working to mitigate the regulatory, technological, and market risks associated with the transition to a low-carbon economy as well as to capitalize on the opportunities associated with reducing operating costs and adding and preserving asset value over the long term. Acting early and decisively helps to satisfy increasing tenant and investor demand and enhances our reputation as a top-tier investment manager.

From 2013 to 2022, we reduced the absolute Scope 1 and 2 GHG emissions of our managed office and residential portfolios by 31%.

Our focus moving forward will be the development of a strategic net-zero carbon roadmap to 2050.

Our office portfolio continues in GWLRA's SBCP, working toward five-year reduction targets for energy, water, waste, and emissions. Teams are on track to meet these goals and align with GWLRA's net-zero commitment. The Going for Gold Challenge is also on track, with 84% of offices already BOMA BEST Gold certified.

We have also strengthened our natural hazard screening processes for new acquisitions by starting to build a repository of local resources on hazards and regional infrastructure. We look forward to advancing our climate change adaptation and mitigation work throughout 2024, collaborating across the company and engaging with our clients on this important journey.
