OPPORTUNITY OVERVIEW

42-50 Gerrish Street brings together stable commercial income and residential tenancy in a format that's straightforward and proven.

A provincial healthcare tenant anchors the ground floor under a net lease structure, while two residential units above provide steady supplemental income. The building has been consistently maintained and improved, and still offers a clear path to create additional value through the unfinished upper level.

Positioned in downtown Windsor, with on-site parking and direct adjacency to a pharmacy, the property sits within a service-oriented corridor that continues to support long-term tenancy and daily activity.

INCOME PROFILE

The property benefits from a balanced income structure anchored by long-term commercial occupancy and supported by residential tenancy above.

At street level, the building is occupied by a provincial healthcare tenant operating from purpose-built medical space that has seen significant investment over time, including operational integration with the neighbouring pharmacy. The commercial lease is structured to allow for recovery of operating and common area costs, helping support long-term income stability.

The residential component includes two upper-floor apartments that provide additional monthly revenue and contribute to the property's overall income mix. Combined with the unfinished third-floor space, the asset also retains future flexibility beyond its current configuration.

Select financial and lease information is available to qualified parties upon request.
